

November 9, 2007

To Randi Linee

Hello,

I'm not sure if you remember if you remember me or not. I was in the WCS group about five years ago as a seventh grader. My name is Melanie Currin. Well, recently I went to a Youth Mentor Summit that focused around encouraging teens to go for what they wanted to do. I believe I've had four teachers influence and inspire me. You were one of the four. Kids Works is still something that I look back on today and I'm glad I got a chance to participate in it. It was an experience that definitely taught me that someday I do want to work with children or even become an inspirational speaker, which I think I would be good at. I just wanted to let you know that you inspired me to do better and some of the things I learned in Kids Works still live on today. The beginning of high school was a rough start. This year I've managed to maintain an A/B average thus far. I no longer participate on stage, but I still have a passion for what I learned.

I hope all is well with you,

Sincerely,

Melanie Currin